Our software integrates seamlessly with your processes, ensuring you achieve your business goals. You can rest assured, that as integral as ASI becomes to your daily business, you'll always know we're working for you.

A sophisticated approach

Andrews Software, Inc. (ASI) understands today's business environment rarely follows a straight line. To be successful, you must be able to address customer demands today, anticipate changes tomorrow and be flexible enough to respond quickly. You need a software partner who understands your needs and provides the resources to propel your business.

That's why ASI employs a sophisticated approach to its software solutions. Combining a depth of industry knowledge and problem solving with innovative technology, we effectively address your business and IT requirements.

Can-do consultants

Recognized in the industry for unsurpassed customer service, ASI service consultants address your business requests as quickly and effectively as possible, 24-hours a day, seven days a week. Knowledge of the ASI product, combined with understanding of the industry and your operational requirements, ensures an informed solution will be provided. Your complete satisfaction is our priority.

The power of knowledge

ASI is a network of thinkers—people who are able to provide intelligent, solutions-driven response to ensure organizational effectiveness. Our development and support team members receive hands-on experience in the records center. So with ASI, you gain a depth of perspective and industry expertise unique from other software providers.

"They help me be a better records center."
Tina Ragsdale—Metro Business Archives

"They really make our lives easier."
Barbara Falci—Data Storage Centers

"I see Andrews as a partner, not a vendor. They know the business, not just software."

Lisa Ferrante, RHIA—Accurate Archive Record Management

"It is the people behind the software that make the difference."

Summer Chase—Sequence Managers LLC

Uniquely qualified

ASI offers more than software. Originally written in 1984 to address the operational needs of its sister company, Andrews Records Management, ASI today offers a family of industry-tailored, proven solutions for information management companies around the globe. You can be confident that the software you purchase is designed with an intuitive understanding of your operation. And ongoing updates and enhancements ensure your company can provide nimble response to an ever-changing business environment.

Flexible. Fast. Focused on results.

ASI software products are specifically designed for the information management industry. Flexible and customizable, our software adapts to the way you work, seamlessly integrating into your existing operations. With an easy-to-use Windows interface, information retrieval is fast and effortless so you can respond quickly to client demands. We offer a full range of features, including web access, scan-on-demand and in-depth operational and management reports, assuring a comprehensive audit trail. These are just a few of the reasons we've won customer allegiance to our feature-rich family of software products.

Forging partnerships

ASI knows that its success depends upon your success. Because the Andrews family of companies includes a records center, ASI is uniquely positioned to offer more than a software solution. Our team members, with Andrews Records Management staff, provide prospective clients the opportunity to visit our site, where we get specific about the information management industry and the role of software in accomplishing your business goals. Clients of ASI are also given the opportunity to send staff to our facility for hands-on training in the records center environment.

Put our years of experience to work for you.
